

Please do not require that video recording devices made or sold in the U.S. be crippled by not allowing them to record arbitrary television signals. The consumer still has fair-use rights (section 107) to copy signals for several reasons.

This is bad regulation because 1) it will send valuable consumer goods contracts overseas, and 2) it denies consumers their rights.